Historical Society Unveils T-Shirts By Local Artists

The Gorham Historical Society, in commemoration of the town's 175th Anniversary this year, has produced a beautiful, limited edition T-shirt. The design, done by Michael Eastman (Art for the Soul Studio) and produced by brother and fellow artist Mark Eastman (Action Screen Printing), depicts the historic town hall, Common and railroad depot in an earlier decade. Some may remember the design, which was used during the town's Sesquicentennial celebration.

Adult and youth sizes are $15.

Shirts are available at the Gorham Historical Society.

Another new T-shirt has been created by Mark MacKay (<http://mackaystudios.blogspot.com/>) and was printed by Corrigan Screen Printing. It's a whimsical sketch of a Baldwin steam engine and train, with many animals on board, including a beluga whale in a wooden crate. The latter is part of some unique local railroad history, as three whales were transported by the Grand Trunk Railroad from the St. Lawrence River near Quebec to the Boston Aquarial Garden in 1861. GTR Historian John Davis unearthed this most interesting freight story 30 or more years ago.
